Bulldogs Drop Final Game of Season to Tigers

The Woodward Diamondmen lost their final game of the season to Western Hills by a score of 2-0. Before the game, Western and Woodward were tied for first place in the PHSL.

Western scored both of their runs in the sixth inning. Bulldog pitcher Ed Southard had allowed only one hit up to this point but Western's first batter, Pinsenschaum, slammed a triple into right-center field. The next batter, Storm, then singled, scoring Pinsenschaum. After Simonds popped out to Southard, two more Mustangs reached base, one on a walk and another on a Bulldog error. With bases loaded, Southard walked Stahl, making the score 2-0 for Western.

The game was principally a pitching battle, each team getting only four hits. Only during the sixth inning did the Bulldog defense lower. The Blue and White threatened in every inning but one. However, they were unable to consolidate their gains.
